Do you need to comply with federal or contract vendor policies and guidelines around accessibility and disability issues?

We make the process easy and efficient. With our in-house expertise and vast network, our services ensure your ability to comply with federal disability regulations and corporate vendor policies.

According to the World Health Organization, there are currently more than 2 billion disabled people (37.5% of the population) in the world.

Ignoring only the visual accessibility of your website and other digital products puts you at risk for lawsuits, decreases your chance of winning valuable contracts and eliminates 1.3 billion people (17% of the world's population who have visual impairments) as customers.

Our team members understand disability and business and are dedicated to our clients' financial success by achieving compliance with ADA regulation, reaching all customers, utilizing strengths of all employees, and including people of all abilities. Considering autism alone, about 60% of people with Autism Spectrum Disorder have average or above average intelligence, yet 85% are unemployed. Businesses are missing people with valuable skills by not hiring people with autism. Our services are customized to your needs and make use of existing resources as much as possible with minimal disruption to your business structure and processes.
